SCRAP METAL FROM ALBERTA FARMS NEEDED

Scrap metal dealers are scouring Alberta farms for batteries, radiators, or anything made out of copper or brass.

The market for scrap metal, along with most everything else today, has become inflated, with high prices being paid for metals, junk dealers report.

But only a portion of the scrap market is active. There's no demand for scrap iron or ferrous metals of any kind.

Non-ferrous metals, however, are much in demand. Dealers are paying 15 cents a pound for old radiators, and around $2 for car and radio batteries.

As most of Canada's scrap metal is export, market conditions in the United States affect prices here. Due to defence production in the States, demand is high for scrap.

Edmonton dealers have been shipping as much as 10 carloads of scrap a month to eastern plants, but with the coming of winter this has fallen off somewhat.

The role of the scrap metal dealer today is more important than most people realize.

The scrap metal dealer is helping to keep the nation's industrial machine strong by supplying essential materials—materials often in short supply.

In fact, for every pound of new metal being produced, there's half a pound of scrap metal flowing back into the nation's manufacturing plants.

And the federal department of defence production is sufficiently interested in collection of scrap metal to require dealers to make a monthly report to Ottawa outlining stocks on hand.

Most scrap collected in Alberta comes from the farms. Dealers estimate only 20 per cent of the scrap they handle comes from Edmonton or Calgary.

With scrap metal the important business it is today, anyone with "junk" around the house or farm, can pick up extra change and make a contribution to Canada's defence effort and industrial welfare by selling their scrap.

Fall Supper Planned For November 5

BEISEKER—Zion United Church Women's Association are holding their annual Fall Supper and Bazaar in the Beiseker Memorial Hall on Wed., Nov. 5.

Shown above is the new Super Constellation soon to be used on Airways to and from Canadian Airports. One of the world's largest and fastest commercial transports, the Super Constellation is 18 feet longer than the present Constellation, measuring 113 feet 7 inches in length, with a wing span of 123 feet. A cruising speed of 340 miles per hour will enable the aircraft to fly the distance between Montreal and London in 10½ hours. By employing exhaust gases to generate greater power through turbine installations, the four new Wright "compound" engines will deliver 3,250 h.p. each. The aircraft is structurally designed to use turbo-propeller power plants when this type of aero engine becomes available in suitable form for commercial air transport.

Mr. L. M. Verbeck Opens Office

BEISEKER—Dr. L. M. Verbeck wishes to announce that he is now in practice in Beiseker. Office hours from 2 to 5 and by appointment.

Local Boy Wins Lions Car

BEISEKER—After about three months of high pressure salesmanship on the part of the members of the Beiseker Lions Club, the Draw for the 1952 Chevrolet Sedan was made at a Dance held at the Beiseker Memorial Hall on Oct. 10.

In the presence of about 325 people, Lion Ken Wright brought out the drum containing the tickets. Before the lucky ticket was drawn, Lion L. L. Schmaltz presented cheques to J. H. Schmaltz, Secretary-Treasurer of the Beiseker Memorial Hall Board and to Pres. W. H. Tidy of the Beiseker Lions Club. Each cheque was for $1,219.86, proceeds from the car project.

This money will be used in improving the Memorial Hall and in assisting the Beiseker Lions Band sponsored by the club.

Lion L. L. Schmaltz called upon young Jackie Verhaest to make the draw for the lucky ticket from the drum, after being blindfolded the lad reached in and pulled out ticket made out in the name of Hubert Kroschel who is now the owner of this beautiful car. Hubert received overwhelming congratulations from all his friends as he is well known, residing in the Beiseker District.

Everybody was satisfied that the draw was carried out in all fairness to every purchaser, each ticket having been rolled into a small cylinder so that only one ticket could be drawn.

After the excitement had abated the call was "On with the Dance" which continued until the early hours of the morning.

Not only the proud owner of the new car is to be congratulated, but also the members of the Beiseker Lions Club who did such a splendid job in bringing this gigantic project to a successful conclusion.

The loud talker substitutes volume for intellect.

J. H. Schmaltz Family Of Beiseker Honored By 1952 Master Farmer Award

A restful oasis of trees on the rolling prairie land south-east of Beiseker marks the home of the J. H. Schmaltz family, southern Alberta's Master Farmer Family for 1952.

The sheltering trees which enclose the farmstead and line the fields are more than an identifying landmark; the spruce, poplar, green ash and other trees are testimony to the determination and vision of the man who planted the first of them 33 years ago on the bare stubble of a prairie farm.

J. H. (Joe) Schmaltz is a man who makes things grow—crops and his community as well as trees. His success with tree planting has been repeated with his achievements in agriculture and home service.

He was born in 1893 in North Dakota and moved to Alberta with his parents at the age of 13. One of a family of nine boys and one

EDITORIALS

For Today and Tomorrow

This October hundreds of thousands of Canadians will buy the seventh consecutive annual issue of Canada Savings Bonds.

Through payroll savings, through banks and investment dealers, we will put out to interest millions of dollars of our collective savings.

Consciously or unconsciously, by so doing we take what military strategists term "a calculated risk."

We risk our dollars in an investment which is only as good as Canada and the Canadian dollar—no better, no worse.

True, these bonds are readily convertible to cash. True, too, they yield an attractive interest rate. They thus boast two of the major assets of a sound investment.

But even more important, when we buy Canada Savings Bonds we become shareholders in the enterprise of Canada, its government and its economy.

At a time when inflationary forces are forever feeding on the purchasing power of the wage earner's dollar, Canada Savings Bonds form a bulwark at home, in commerce and industry, and in government, a bulwark against waste and inefficiency.

With our purchase of Savings Bonds, we each have a personal stake in the buy-ability of the dollars so invested. And, as shareholders in the Canadian enterprise, we realize that the best protection for Canada, for the Canadian dollar, and for Canada Savings Bonds lies in the maximum of productive labor and the minimum of waste at all levels of our national economy.

Canada Savings Bonds are a good buy today because they are one of the best protections we have against having to say goodbye to our promising tomorrow.

Another Attack On Everest

Six Swiss Alpinists left Geneva recently by air to attempt the climbing of the world's highest mountain, Mt. Everest. In the spring of this year some of these same men reached a point less than 1,000 feet from the 29,000 foot summit.

Now, with oxygen equipment, the group expects to become the first group ever to scale the heights of the highest mountain. On this spring's attempt, the group carried American-made oxygen equipment which could only be worked when the climber halted to manipulate it.

The new equipment is German-made, and modified so that a steady flow of oxygen is fed to the climber at all times. The equipment is also lighter.

However, there is one handicap on this trip. The kingdom of Nepal has a new King, who has closed the custom gates to visitors, and permission will not be easily obtained in the future. Because the Swiss application and another from Japanese climbers, had been granted for 1952, before the new King took over direct rule of his country, these applications are expected to be honored, but the best weather of the year is already over.

Thus the Swiss party's attempt is perhaps the last hope for victory over Mt. Everest by the West. A Russian expedition is reported to be preparing to make the attempt, and if Nepal's border is closed, the Russians will have a monopoly on Everest climbing, since they alone can pass through Tibet—a country they recently occupied, which also provides access to Everest.

We must confess that mountain climbing leaves us somewhat at a loss, and though we hope the West will be able to achieve the distinction of reaching Everest's peak first, the action of the new King in Nepal—in closing his country's borders to mountain climbing expeditions—may save the lives of many climbers. And, in our opinion, lives lost climbing mountains are lives lost unnecessarily.

The Bible Today

Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding. — Proverbs, III, 13.

Pity The Millionaire's Son

The origins of one thousand successful men—those who'd made fortunes or contributed notably to the arts or sciences—were looked up recently. Three hundred began life on the farm; 200 were messenger boys, 200 were newsboys in their youth; 100 started work in factories; another 100 were once printers' apprentices; 50 started in lowly railroad jobs. And only 50 came from families of wealth. Don't forget to tell your children that it is for their good that you aren't leaving them a fortune.

Where "Bunk" Comes From

Henry Ford was famous for a number of things, including great wealth. But he made "bunk" famous by saying that "History is Bunk." Undoubtedly many school boys would like to dispense with the study of history as easily as Mr. Ford did, but we often use the term "bunk" or "bunkum" without realizing its source or exactly what it means.

Back in 1820, the pro-slavery and the anti-slavery factions in the House of Representatives after long and bitter argument had reached a satisfactory compromise concerning the entry of Missouri as a State in the Union. This was accomplished through the passage of the Missouri Compromise which provided that Missouri might enter the Union as a slave state but that future states formed above the line of Missouri's southern boundary should be free-soil states.

All of the members of the House wanted an immediate vote with one exception, a little known Congressman, Felix Walker, whose principal constituency was Buncombe County, North Carolina. Walker said: "I am bound to make a speech for Buncombe" to those who asked him to allow a vote to be taken.

After that speech, every time a legislator made a useless, time-wasting talk, his colleagues would shout, "Buncombe." As time went on the term was shortened to "bunk" and became a part of our language.

Latin Fascism

The difference between life in Canada and life in Argentina was clearly demonstrated recently when a dozen persons, including a newspaper writer, were arrested for allegedly celebrating the death of Senora Eva Peron.

It is said that federal police took part in raiding a vacation house, belonging to a press association, where the arrests were made. It is also said that most of those arrested were well known merchants, or government clerks.

If such a dictatorial authority existed in Canada, most of us would have been in jail several times already and many of us would not be around to read this editorial. One of the greatest differences between Canada and most of the countries of the world is the freedom with which newspaper men and others in public office attack and berate the ruling powers.

Recently, a spokesman for a group of German scientists, who had found new homes in Canada, pointed out that the custom of criticizing and belittling their public leaders is one of the more amazing and refreshing freedoms Canadians enjoy.

The danger, of course, in such a custom, is that some newspaper men and public officials may resort to false statements in an effort to discredit their administration. That is the main reason why an intelligent citizenry is necessary in the proper functioning of democracy. It is up to the individual voter to ascertain whether criticism he reads or hears is factual or partisan or emotional. In Canada, we allow the individual citizen to determine the value of criticism.

ANNOUNCE WINNERS OF 1952 MASTER FARM FAMILY AWARDS

Winners of the Master Farm Family Awards for 1952 were announced by Hon. David Ure, minister of agriculture. This is the fourth year of the Alberta Master Farm Family program.

These are Alberta's Master Farm Families for this year:

E. R. Lewis Family, Winterburn.

John Lambert Family, Manning.

John Skrypitsky Family, Mun-dara.

J. H. Schmaltz Family, Beiseker.

Jesse Cole Family, Clive.

Each family receives an award of $1,000, an engraved plaque and a name plate for the farm entrance.

The main objective of the Master Farm Family Program is to provide Alberta farmers with a practical demonstration of how a family can achieve success in farming and living with each other and their community. The program is intended to emphasize the advantages of the farming vocation and the dignity and satisfaction of farm life. Through the program, farm youth gain a clear understanding of the high ideals of agriculture and learn of the opportunities offered them in agriculture.

"Good Farming, Right Living and Clear Thinking is the slogan of the Master Farm Family Program," Mr. Ure said. "We try to find farm families whose life has been guided by these principles. The families we are honoring this year are outstanding for their achievements in agriculture, home-making and citizenship."

Interest in the program continued keen this year with 32 families being nominated for the awards, approximately the same number of nominations as last year.

Candidates must be Canadian citizens who have operated a farm either as owner or lessee for 20 consecutive years. At least three neighbors must nominate a family and the family must agree to accept the honor of nomination.

Winners are selected on a regional basis and a provincial committee confirms the selections. Each regional committee is made up of a working farmer, a technical agriculturist, a home economist, a housewife, and a representative of the Experimental Farms. Each region corresponds roughly to one of the five Alberta soil zones.

A total of 87 factors related to the farm operation, farm life, community work and business management are evaluated in each case and points given for each factor. For each of the factors there is a possible score and the candidate's score is measured against this.

The Minister of Agriculture extended congratulations of the Alberta Government to the five families whose high achievements made the awards possible. He also congratulated the other candidates, pointing out that nomination is in itself a great honor and proof of the high regard held for them in their communities. In conclusion, he emphasized the important work done by the selection committees, without whose assistance the Master Farm Family Program would be unworkable.

Bang's Disease Can Cause Undulant Fever

This disease can be transmitted to humans where it causes undulant fever. The bacteria are present in the cow's udder which allows them to get into the milk where humans will pick them up. Pasteurization or boiling will destroy the organisms if done for a three minute period. The best prevention is to only use milk from cows that have been tested and are free of the disease. To do this you should consult with your veterinarian and have him test the cows and vaccinate the calves.

The final solution to the undulant fever and contagious abortion problem is to eliminate the disease from Alberta herds. Since the Athabasca area is now part of a Bang's free area, this policy is being carried out as rapidly as possible. The areas already completed are the Atmore section, Gourin area and north of the river since the policy has been to do the outlying sections first. The veterinarian and Mr. Armfelt will be working in the Ellscoot, New Pine Creek and Alpine districts during this week. Then they hope to move to the south-west corner of the municipality in the Blueberry Ridge area.

The infection on a farm is usually "bought and paid for" since newly purchased animals usually are the source of infection in a clean herd. The checking of all new additions to the herd by a blood test will help to prevent infection from the source. If abortions occur in a herd, it should arouse suspicion that the disease may be present. Plan on having the veterinarian check your herd when he comes around to vaccinate the calves.

Remember that herd losses due to this disease are small when compared to the risk of the family catching undulant fever for which there is no satisfactory treatment. Everyone should co-operate with the Service Board in making our area a Bang's free area.

Mrs. F. Belanger Puts Up 7-Week Fight For Life

CROSSFIELD — Residents of Crossfield and Airdrie were deeply grieved to hear of the death of Mrs. Florence Belanger (nee Florence Howe) formerly of Airdrie, but who moved to Calgary following her marriage seven years ago.

Mrs. Belanger was badly burned when her clothing caught fire as she darted through a door where her brother-in-law, carrying a burning gasoline can, was striving to avert the house taking fire. He had placed the gas can in the basement to keep it from children's reach, but had not calculated on its proximity to a heater which started the blaze.

Mrs. Belanger made a magnificent struggle for life and the doctors marvelled at her spirit. Skin was grafted and all seemed well after seven weeks but her heart could not stand the strain.

She leaves her husband, Earl; one son, Terrence; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Howe; two sisters and two brothers.

She was buried in St. Mary's Cemetery, Calgary.

The truth is a great enemy to conversation.

GOOD PLOWING—

Here's a speedy plowing combination—the No. 8 Plow
guilted by Farnell-M.

with No. 8 PLOWS

The McCormick-Deering No. 8 has long been the yardstick for measuring the heat in plow performance. These Plows can be depended upon to turn good furrows in all kinds of going. Their rugged construction and proved design withstands the strains of plowing behind modern, fast-moving tractors. Ample clearance under beams and between bottoms assures a thorough job of turning and covering heavy growths of stalks, weeds and green cover crops. Easy to adjust — easy to handle in any field — the No. 8 Plows do the kind of work particular plowmen like.

Come in and see the line of McCormick-Deering Plows in our store. We have them in sizes to fit all types of farms, soils and power.

Children Refuse To Ride School Van — Only Borrowed Calves Gets New Trial

OPAL. — Since the parents of the local board could not come to a satisfactory conclusion, the Opal intermediate grades do not board the Van to school, but use their own way of transportation.

Refusing to go to Egremont by van, they are attending the Red-water school.

EDMONTON—A suspected rustler won a new trial after he claimed he borrowed two calves to practice cattle roping for a rodeo.

Lewis Elsher, aged 18, won the new trial in the appellate division of the Alberta Supreme Court after his defence counsel claimed he had not "a fair deal."

Fisher pleaded guilty to the cattle theft charge on July 29 and was sentenced to two years less one day in jail. However, the accused claimed he had not intended to keep the two calves he rustled as he only wanted to practice roping them for the Stony Plain Stampede.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa,

I have one little son and my husband always takes the hour after the evening meal to talk to him or read to him or sometimes plays a simple game with him. He says as he is away all day it gives him a chance to know his boy better and to enjoy him. This routine also allows me to do the dishes and tidy things up until son is ready for bed and then my husband and I can enjoy the evening together.

My sister is married to a man and they have three small children but he doesn't pay them any attention. He says nursing is woman's work and he sits and reads or listens to the radio while she struggles with the dishes and the children—getting them to bed.

Don't you think he is very selfish and inconsiderate to act this way?

MRS. J. B.

Answer:

I realize that a man who has been working hard all day is tired when he gets home in the evening and is ready to relax. But a woman who has been doing all of her work and caring for three children has also had a hard day and certainly needs a helping hand. She probably resents his attitude which doesn't make for good feeling in the home.

I really think this man is losing more than he is gaining by acting as he does. He would not only earn the gratitude of his wife, by lending a helping hand, but he would get the love and adoration of his children, if he would spare them an hour out of each day. And, after all, an hour a day is not too much for anyone to give to a child they have brought into the world.

The time spent in this manner would mean much more to this man than the hour he devotes to himself.

LOUISA.

"Out of gas? Why Charles, you haven't done this for years."

Paul Côté says:

Yes, Dad, if you pulled that "out-of-gas" trick on Mother NOW, she'd be tickled pink! But don't risk the little lady's displeasure by an "out-of-coal" situation later when you can be assured of a full season's supply of the best just by calling

$1 for EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Editor will pay $1.00 for every item published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." To qualify, items must be true, personal incidents. Address "Embarrassing Moments", P.O. Box 4368, South Edmonton.

This happened to me in a store at Vermilion this year. I was ready to go home and picked up my box of groceries. I also picked up, as I thought, my pair of gloves from the counter. Imagine my consternation when, as I neared the door, a man called out, "Hey! you, come back with my gloves."

I stopped and looked back. He told me angrily to give him back his gloves. I assured him rather cockily that the gloves I picked up were my own. Imagine my great embarrassment when he pointed to my bulging coat pocket and said, "Look, your gloves are in your pocket." I put my hand in and drew out my own gloves. I had quite a time convincing him I had made a mistake.

WM. GRASIUK.

Vermilion, Alta.

A group of us kids were on a hike. On our way back one of my friends tore his pants. That night, just as I was to take the bus to come home, I saw a guy who looked just like my friend. I said, "Did you change your pants?" When this man turned around and I noticed it wasn't my friend, was I ever embarrassed!

ALBERTA PACKING PLANTS SEND MEAT TO TROOPS

Alberta packing plants put up the majority of an order for 550,000 pounds of beef for shipment to the Commonwealth Brigade in Korea.

The Canadian Government completed the deal for the purchase of the beef in Alberta and British Columbia about a month ago without publicity.

The Government is now preparing to ship the meat overseas and may buy more for later shipments.

One plant at Calgary, Union

Packing Co., and two Edmonton plants, filled most of the order with Alberta beef. Much of the beef slaughtered in B.C. plants originally went to that province from Alberta as stockers and feeders.

C. A. Loest, Union manager, said it was the first time his plant had put up such an order.

The beef, frozen and up to U.S.

quartermaster grades, must be carried by a Canadian ship as the U.S. foot and mouth embargo prohibits shipment of Canadian beef in U.S. vessels.

No reason was given for the lack of publicity. The meat was all bought from Alberta and West Coast producers on tender.

The 550,000 pound shipment is equivalent to the meat needs of the Canadian 25th Infantry Brigade for six months.

What's in the Name WASKATENAU

"Waskatenau" is an Indian word meaning "opening in the bank." It was taken in reference to the cleft in the ridge through which the Waskatenau Creek flows into the North Saskatchewan River.

In 1946 the population of Waskatenau was 258. The village is located some 22 miles west of Smoky Lake in a farming and wheat growing region.

Waskatenau is composed of four garages and service stations; five general stores; one hardware; two restaurants; 1 butcher shop; and a few other business places.

LAVOY

Named after Joseph Lavoie an early settler, the village of Lavoie situated some eight miles east of Vogreville had a population of 127 persons in 1946. Lavoie was previously known as Dinwoodie, P.O. until 1906 when it was changed.

J. H. Schmaltz Family Of Beiseker Honored By 1952 Master Farmer Award

 girl, he lived on a farm three and a half miles north of his present home.

Young Joe Schmaltz soon saw the value of applying business training to the successful operation of a farm and attended business college at Calgary in 1911 and again in 1917. During the First Great War, his father's working ability became impaired by rheumatism and his son left business college to assist on the farm.

After working on a share basis with his father for a year, Mr. Schmaltz married in February, 1919, and settled on the farm he and his sons work today. His father sold him one quarter section and gave him another quarter and on this first half section he founded his farm.

In February and March of that first year, he drifted a well and built the first two rooms of his present home. His first barn was a flat-roofed shack and at the beginning there was only a fence to mark off his land. However, that first year he planted his first trees—some poplars—and began the long-term tree planting program which would make his farm a beauty spot in an area not distinguished for its shelterbelts.

In 1923, he planted 2,425 trees around the farm and in 1924 another 2,450 south of his home. More trees from the Dominion Forest Nursery at Indian Head, Sask., were planted in the fields in 1927, 1928, 1930 and 1932. In 1945 more spruce were planted and last year he planted 3/4 mile of trees along the road which passes his farm. Next year, he plans to start a mile-long shelterbelt along the northern fringe of the Calgary-Drumheller highway as well as 50 apple and plum trees.

Another feature which enhances the appearance of the Schmaltz farm are the attractive and solidly built farm buildings, in good condition and all painted in a conservative but smart red except the poultryhouse, which is white.

The Schmaltzes are grain farmers with an average five-year acreage in wheat of 480 acres in oats 133 acres, and in barley 138 acres. They keep about 22.5 per cent or 270 of their total 1200 acres in forage and their cropping program is based on eight years cereal, four years summerfallow and four years grass. This cropping program has maintained the fertility of the land and still can be adapted to a change in markets. All non-tillable land is used for pasture and manure and ammonium phosphate used for fertilizer.

Good practices have kept the yields above the average for the Beiseker district. The ten-year average yield for the Thatcher wheat is 31 bushels per acre, 46 bushels per acre for the Victory oats, and 56 bushels for the Newell barley. Two to three years' seed reserves are kept.

The farm is a family operation in which two sons, Norman, 25, and Clarence 24, share one-third of net income from the farm's operations. Both these sons took the "two-in-one" course at the Olds School of Agriculture, while 19-year-old Gregory will also attend the Olds School.

Although the Schmaltzes have a herd of 32 Holsteins, 18 heifers and ten calves, Norman and Clarence have become interested in beef cattle and plan to raise 20 head of registered Herefords each. This cattle project will give the boys a reserve source of income in event of a crop failure.

In addition to the cattle, there also are 72 Yorkshire hogs, 155 White Leghorn hens and 280 chicks.

The Schmaltzes include among their list of farm machinery two self-propelled combines and two tractors, as well as such other labor-saving devices as a dump truck for loading grain, and self feeders. A large and well-equipped farm shop enables all repairs except welding to be done at home.

The house in which the Schmaltzes live is the original homestead with the improvements and additions which have been added during the years. The last addition was a bright and comfortably equipped office in which Mr. Schmaltz does his paper work. A large and handy plywood cabinet and a filing cabinet serve as practical containers for all documents.

The kitchen is large and bright and equipped with a refrigerator, electric stove, electric mixer and other electric food preparation devices. Mrs. Schmaltz bakes eight loaves of bread twice a week, makes butter once a week, makes her own lard and soap and does extensive canning and preserving. During busy times, she is helped considerably by her daughter, Lima, who worked last winter as a commercial telephone operator with the Alberta Government Telephones at High River.

One daughter and two sons are not living on the farm. Stanley, who took a business course, lives in Calgary, where he is employed as a clerk with the City Electric, Light and Water Department. Irene, who since June, 1951, has been Mrs. G. Vanstone, lives in Winnipeg. Irene trained as a nurse and worked in this profession at Lethbridge for two years before joining Trans-Canada Airlines as a stewardess, flying the Toronto-Montreal flight. Leonard, 22, trained as a commercial pilot at Calgary and became a pilot for TCA in April, 1950. After further training at Montreal, the handsome young pilot served a stint flying as first officer out of Moncton, New Brunswick to Newfoundland and Boston. Last spring, he returned to Calgary and now flies the Calgary-Edmonton and Calgary-Lethbridge flights.

Norman, Clarence and Gregory all are active in curling and hockey. Gregory is secretary of the Junior Grain Club, and is active in his Students' Union and other youth organizations. Norman is secretary of the Knights of Columbus and holds the same position in the Beiseker Baseball Club. Norman and Clarence also are active in the Beiseker Lions Club, the Beiseker Band and the Beiseker Board of Trade.

Mr. Schmaltz was president of the Beiseker Lions Club for two years and currently is a trustee of the Wheatland School Division Board. He was reeve of the Keoma Municipal District from 1932 to 1942. Other organizations in which Mr. Schmaltz is active are the Alberta Catholic Education Association; the Calgary Chamber of Commerce; the Beiseker Board of Trade; the Beiseker Columbus Club; and Beiseker Knights of Columbus; the local Agricultural Society; the Alberta Wheat Pool; and the United Farmers of Alberta.

Mrs. Schmaltz is an enthusiastic worker in the community and a member of the Catholic Women's League.

Mr. Schmaltz has six brothers living, four of whom live in Beiseker. Louis is a garage operator, while Matt, Carl and Anselm are farmers. Another brother, A. P. "Tony" Schmaltz, is a businessman in Bowness, and another brother, Dr. S. M. Schmaltz, practices at Lethbridge.
